The others will be visited this week, and the first annual round completed. The whole number will be gone over again and the visits of the vaccinating corps will continue while there is any danger apprehended from the spreading of the infection.

The work of fumigating and renovating the sourt-room at Police Headquarters, was finished this morning. The precaution was, in the estimation of Dr. Doty, rendered necessary, in view of the fact that a large number of Italians from the tenement-house 90 James street were in the court-room Saturday, having been summoned as witness for the defense in the trial of Capt, Slevin.

Saturday morning a tenant suffering from small-pox was removed from the house, and it was feered that some of those summoned as witnesses might be infected. All of them have since been vaccinated.
